

Link utili

<https://www.joimag.it/donne-rabbino-ebraismo-ortodosso-rabbi-herzl-hefter/?fbclid=IwAR3YgXVsnDUTbHVRVb-aAOEdtr1pX1dLBo14oQ3vhqZ5chBx71SeQtNzfSw>

https://www.joimag.it/cosa-significa-per-una-donna-diventare-rabbino/?fbclid=IwAR3MtZu7q1BmqzrH1x2pt6pJ\_Wr3NAveD5fnyyqcI2TbPvKW9Hrzn9THs9M

Questo è sulla specifica questione dei "partnership minyan(im)", come Shirah Chadasha a Gerusalemme, fondato - fra gli altri - da Tovah Hartman.

<https://moderntoraleadership.wordpress.com/2014/11/04/are-partnership-minyanim-orthodox/>

<https://forward.com/sisterhood/346541/can-these-newly-ordained-rabbis-upend-the-status-quo-in-israel/>

The Reformed movement ordained the first woman rabbi in 1972, true, so super recent.. The Conservative movement (another stream of non-orthodox judaism) started ordaining women rabbis a few years later and Orthodox Judaism, at least in its modern-orthodox fringes, is starting now; the first rabbinic school that opened to women was Maharat in NY

<https://www.yeshivatmaharat.org/>

then my school in Jerusalem

<https://www.yeshivatmaharat.org/>

and some more.. in Israel and US mostly.

<https://www.har-el.org/>

This is a service the BBC did on my training when I began a couple of years ago: it's very well done

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/programmes/w3csz4jc>

This is an article from the american jewish paper FORWARD

<https://forward.com/life/420500/italy-first-orthodox-woman-rabbi-milan/> and another one, not on me.. very important about Israel and the rabbinate:

<https://forward.com/life/346541/can-these-newly-ordained-rabbis-upend-the-status-quo-in-israel/>